3 YALOAK ESTATE OVERVIEW

SCOPE OF OPERATIONS

Yaloak Estate is currently operated as a mixed-farming enterprise, comprising both dryland cropping and grazing.

The cropping program for Yaloak Estate comprises a rotation of high quality and high yielding cereals and oilseeds, taking full advantage of the favourable soil types, topography and climatic conditions prevalent in the region. A comprehensive sub-soil manuring program has greatly increased the productivity of Yaloak Estate's cropped areas, with cereal yields typically in the vicinity of seven tonnes to the hectare, with oilseeds consistently producing in excess of three tonnes to the hectare.

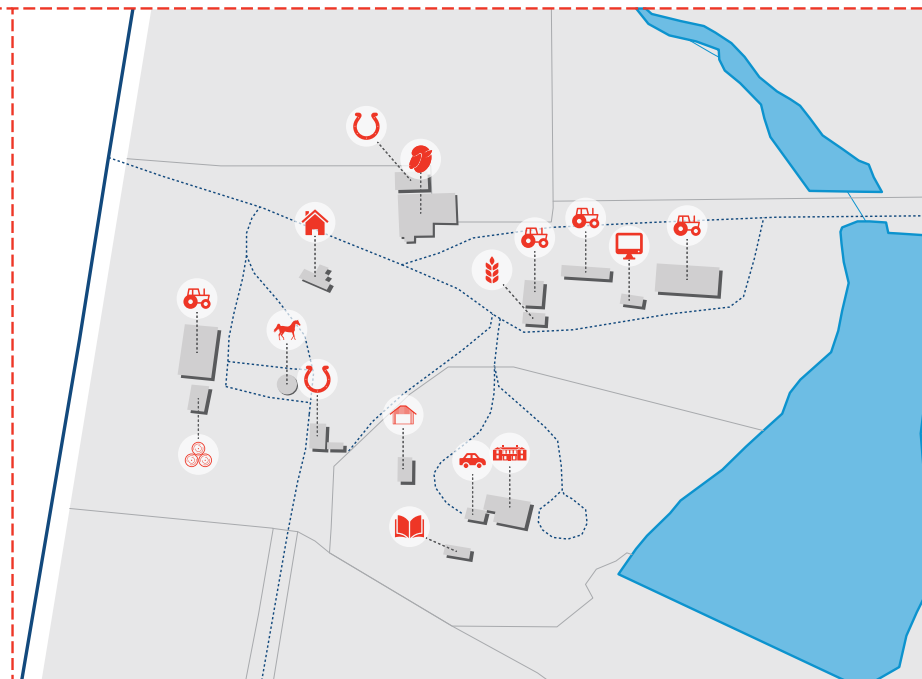

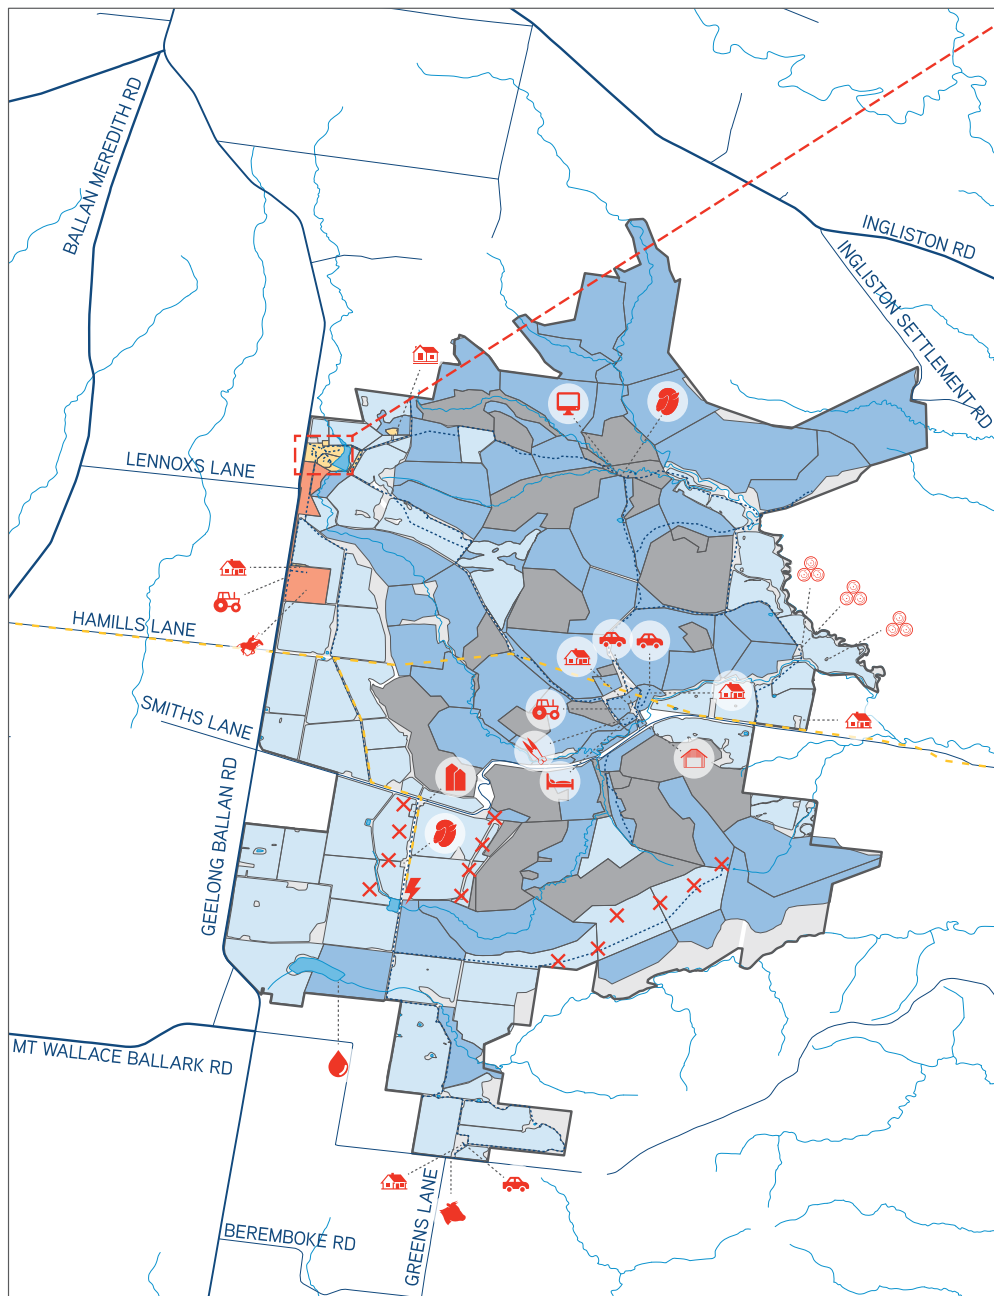

The balance of the land is utilised for grazing purposes, with the property historically carrying between 10,000 and 11,000 crossbred ewes for prime lamb production, with Yaloak Estate having an estimated carrying capacity of approximately 45,000 Dry Sheep Equivalents. The grazing operation is supported by high quality fencing infrastructure, an extensive laneway system and reliable stock water in each paddock.

5 POPULATION GROWTH IN VICTORIA

POPULATION GROWTH BY MAJOR LOCAL GOVERNMENT AREAS

As Melbourne's population continues to expand, further land will need to be unlocked in order to accommodate housing growth. Land transitioning from farming land to a higher and better use is occurring more frequently, and Yaloak Estate is well-positioned to capitalise on increased land values as Melbourne's urban sprawl grows closer to the property.

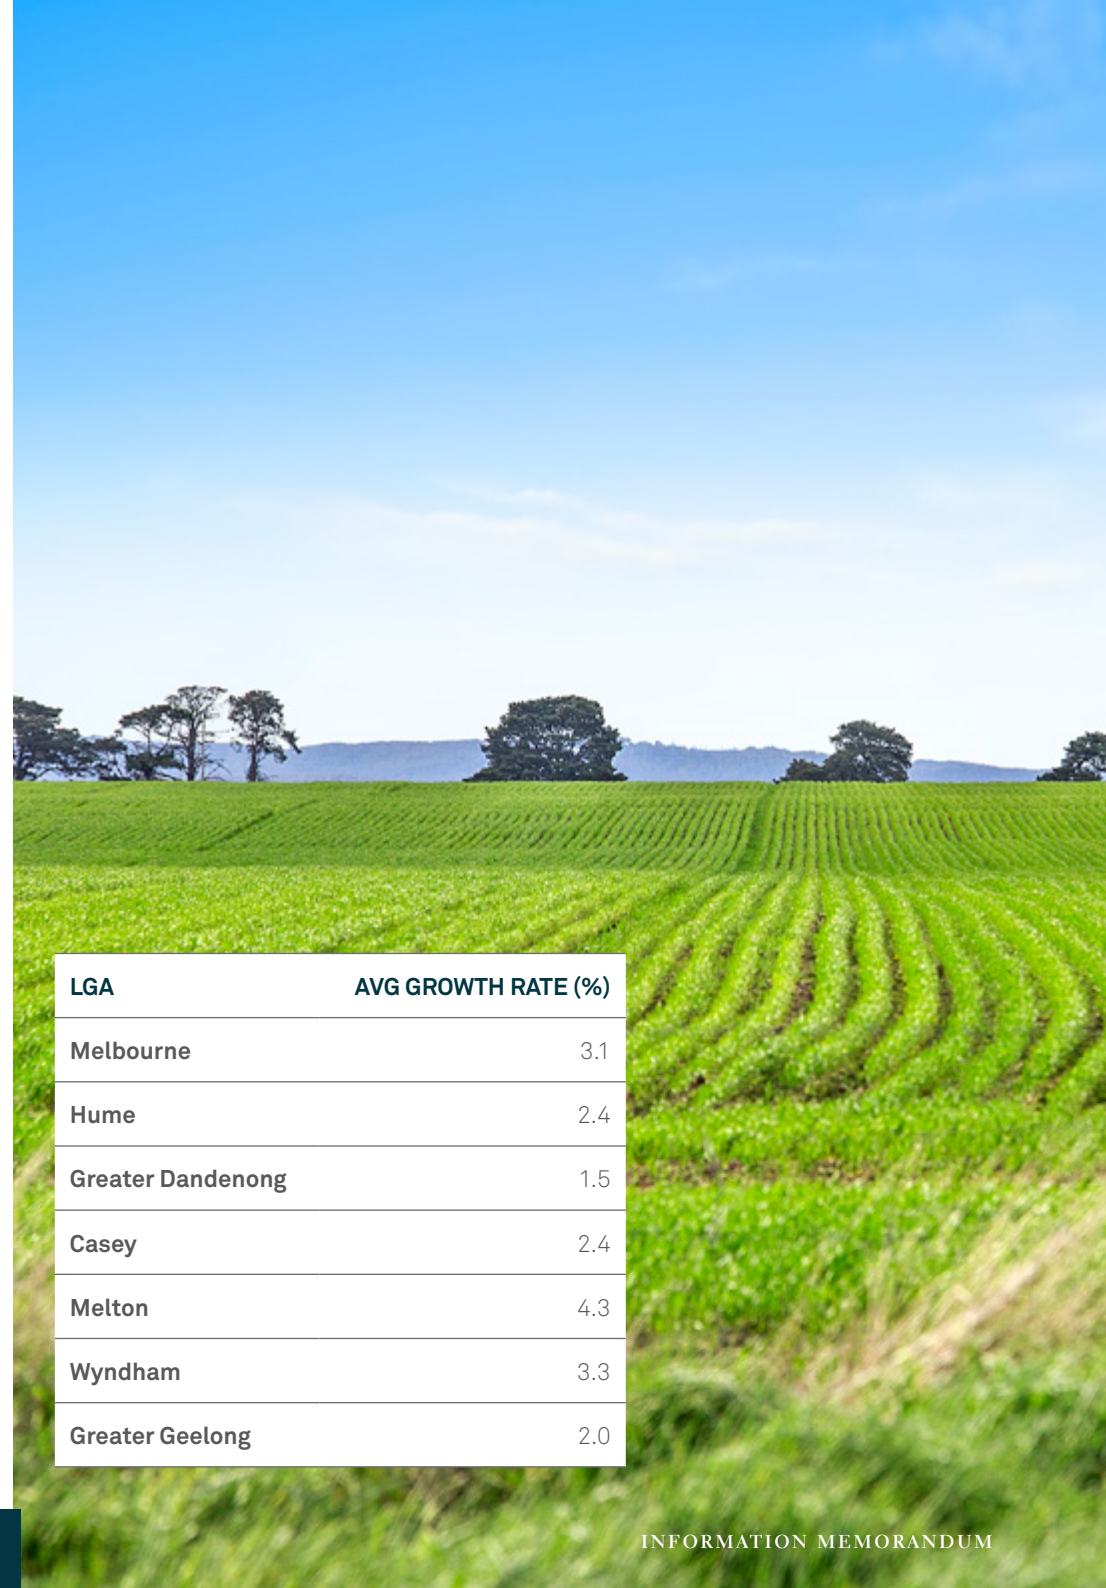

Further, Melbourne's South-East Growth Corridor is reaching capacity, and therefore development activity is increasing in Melbourne's Western and Northern Growth Corridors, given the availability of land and increasing investment into social infrastructure.

The below chart depicts forecast population growth from 2018 to 2036 by major Local Government Areas (LGAs), and several of the below LGAs are located close to Yaloak Estate, specifically Hume, Melton, Wyndham and Greater Geelong.

POPULATION CHANGE 2018 - 2036

Melbourne	3.1
Hume	2.4
Greater Dandenong	1.5

6 FUTURE DEVELOPMENT OPPORTUNITIES

YALOK ESTATE IS WELL-POSITIONED TO CAPITALISE ON THE CONTINUED EXPANSION OF MELBOURNE AND VICTORIA'S REGIONAL CENTRES, GIVEN THE PROPERTY'S PROXIMITY TO URBAN AREAS, NEARBY INFRASTRUCTURE AND LARGE CITIES SUCH AS BALLARAT AND GEELONG.

As such, Yaloak Estate's future may comprise a higher and better alternate use, and the following map provides an indicative concept plan of what Yaloak Estate may potentially look like in years to come (Subject to Council Approval).
